

Matthew Lum is an Automotive Technical Engineer at the American Automobile Association.

He received his B.S from North Carolina State University and served in the United States Coast Guard before receiving his M.S from the University of Central Florida.

Since joining AAA in 2015, he has led a diverse range of research projects and specializes in ADAS evaluation in naturalistic and closed-course environments.

Matthew also has a publication in SAE Technical Papers in collaboration with the Department of Chemistry at the University of Central Florida.

